

If claimant has a mental impairment, a payee application must be taken prior to a fee agreement determination in order for the payee to help protect the claimant's right to request review of the fee agreement determination. In all cases the claimant has a right to administrative review of the fee decision.

